Harvesting of Trees

Shawnee Forest to Sell Estimated 50,400 Cords of Pine Pulpwood Within Next 10 Years

15,000 Acres Included in Eight Counties of Area

The Shawnee National Forest, which has its headquarters in Harrisburg, during the next ten years will have an estimated 50,400 cords of pine pulp wood from its plantations in Illinois available for sale.

L. P. Neff, supervisor, reported that from 1957 through 1960 there will be an estimated 12,900 cords available. From 1961 through 1963 the estimate is 17,200 cords and from 1964 through 1967 it is estimated the amount will be 20,300.

Sales areas lie in Saline, Union, Pope, Massac, Jackson, Hardin, Gallatin and Alexander counties and vary in size from four to three acres, with the total acres involved approximately 15,000.

However, the areas to be cut are estimated to be approximately 7,900 acres.

The pulpwood, which will be obtained by thinning the existing plantations, is composed chiefly of shortleaf pine, but there are minor quantities of loblolly, pitch and red pines.

The plantations from which it will come were established between 1934 and 1943. Harvesting a portion of the trees is good forest practice, just like it is good practice for a gardener to thin out vegetable plants, the Forest Service stated.

There are two methods used in thinning the plantations, Paul Kihl-mire, staff assistant, explained. One way, he said, is by row thinning, in which rows of trees are thinned out at certain intervals. The other type is called thinning by marking, in which a forest expert goes into the plantation and marks certain trees to be cut.

Awarded $300,000 For Loss of Legs, Arm in Train Accident

CHICAGO (UP)—A Des Plaines man has been awarded $300,000 for the loss of both legs and an arm in an accident while alighting from a Chicago and North Western commuter train.

The award, by a Superior Court jury Wednesday, is believed to be the largest of its kind in the history of Illinois courts.

Edward Goertz, 64, charged the train made a short stop at the Des Plaines station and that it was moving when he alighted. The jurors found that Goertz had used "ordinary precaution" in getting off the train April 3, 1954.

Approve Probe Of Utility Rates

Illinois House Committee Votes For Investigation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A proposed investigation of southern Illinois electric utility rates won out Wednesday in the House executive committee over objections in the probe implied criticism of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

By a 25-6 vote, the committee recommended passage of the House resolution for a five-man group to compare power costs with adjoining states. The group also would inquire into the rate effects on southern Illinois economy.

Rep. Bert Baker (D-Benton), chief sponsor of the resolution, said "some industries were discouraged from locating in southern Illinois because power rates were considered too high."

Rep. John Lewis (R-Marshall) and others objected to the proposal on grounds that some of the data desired might be obtainable from the commerce commission, which regulates utilities and authorizes rates. Lewis called the resolution a "slap at the commerce commission which can accomplish nothing."

Rep. Lloyd Harris (D-Granite City) opposed the investigation and said Illinois Power Co. rates charged in Chester, Pinckneyville, Sparta and other southern Illinois communities were the same as charged in communities farther north.

Harris asserted that labor or transportation factors rather than electric power costs kept 27 new industries, which located recently in southwest Illinois, from locating in southern Illinois.

Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna) supported the resolution and said the "people of southern Illinois think the rates are too high."

Wrong Door Raid

Probers Check Conflicting Testimony By Frank Sinatra, Private Detective

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—State senators investigating Joe DiMaggio's botched-up "wrong door" raid on Marilyn Monroe said today they will check a transcript of conflicting testimony by Frank Sinatra and a private eye.

Sen. Fred Kraft, head of the committee investigating detectives and unscrupulous bill collectors, announced "If there is evidence of perjury it will be given to the district attorney for what action he deems proper."

Kraft's committee is investigating state-licensed private detectives who allegedly sell client secrets to scandal magazines. The first case examined by the committee in a three-day hearing was a raid by two private eyes hired by DiMaggio to seek adultery.

Young Mother Arrested in Attempt To Steal Food for Hungry Children

CINCINNATI (UP)—A 17-year-old mother who was arrested for attempting to break into a food store because "I couldn't stand to see my babies hungry," was back with her children today.

Patrolman Albert Elsbernd said he arrived Wednesday just as Mrs. Karen Correll was about to throw a brick through the window of a food store.

"I thought it was a man," Elsbernd said. "She was dressed in blue jeans and a heavy black leather jacket."

The officer said he fired several shots when Mrs. Correll dropped the brick and began to flee. "I'd never steal for myself," Mrs. Correll told police, "but I can't stand seeing my babies hungry. I was desperate, I guess." She said

Ike, Mollet See Solution by Peaceful Means

Issue Joint Communique as Talks Concluded

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower and French Premier Guy Mollet agreed today that a solution to the Middle East problem can be achieved by peaceful means.

Mr. Eisenhower and the French premier issued a joint communique as Mollet concluded his Washington visit and left for New York.

Because the Middle East negotiations in the United Nations remain in a fluid state, the two leaders took a somewhat generalized stand on the problem. The communique said:

"With reference to the Middle East, they stated their common conviction that solutions to the problems of the area can be achieved by peaceful means, in conformity with the principles of justice and international law."

They reaffirmed their belief in the free use of the Suez Canal in accordance with the treaty of 1888.

They also reiterated their support of the requirements unanimously adopted by the United Nations Security Council and accepted by Egypt last October, calling for free and open transit through the canal without discrimination and the insulation of canal operations from "the politics of any country."

Other points in the communique: —They pledged continued support for the early reunification of Germany by means of free elections.

—They agreed that European defense forces should be maintained with conventional armaments and "modern weapons" at such levels and balance "as to discourage any aggression against the territories of all NATO countries."

—They agreed that the creation of a united Europe would materially strengthen relations between the United States and Europe.

Arab Rulers Agree on Neutrality Between U. S. and Russian Blocs

CAIRO (UP)—The rulers of four Arab nations reached agreement Wednesday night on a six-point resolution proclaiming their "positive neutrality" in world affairs between the blocs led by the United States and Russia.

The four nations pledged an alliance to work for Israel's "immediate and unconditional withdrawal" behind the armistice lines, but did not threaten action if Israel failed to comply.

A communique issued by the governments of Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Jordan and Syria indicated the conference had sidestepped a joint decision on the Eisenhower Doctrine, leaving the way open for any of the four to accept or reject the President's new policies.

The communique did commend the "highly appreciated efforts" of King Saud of Saudi Arabia in explaining Arab policies to President Eisenhower during their Washington talks and making clear Egypt's claims to sovereignty over the Suez Canal. It did not mention Communism.

But in declaring the Arabs will defend themselves without foreign pacts, the four nations showed that the Eisenhower Doctrine failed to win full support American diplomats had hoped for.

Anna Hospital Contract

Grand Jury to Be Asked To Indict Rep. Clabaugh

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Sangamon County Grand Jury will be asked to indict state Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh on "conflict of interest" charges stemming from an $890 contract for security screens at Anna State Hospital.

State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman said Wednesday he will present evidence of the contract to the grand jury March 19.

He said the contract was the only one turned up in an investigation by his office of Clabaugh's dealings in state contracts which came within the 18 month statute of limitations.

State law bars legislators from dealing "directly or indirectly" in state contracts. Violation of the law is a misdemeanor and carries a $1,000 fine.

Ackerman said he would present his evidence to a grand jury although misdemeanors are generally prosecuted in justice of the peace courts, because "I think this is an extremely serious matter and should be treated seriously even though the penalty is not great."

Did For Contract

Ackerman said he had evidence that Clabaugh's Champaign Weather Strip Co., was awarded the $890 contract in January of this year after bidding for it in competition with another firm, Fenestra Inc.

However, he said that after getting the contract, Clabaugh on

Jan. 27 and Feb. 1 notified the state hospital and his screen supplier that he would not personally handle the contract any further.

He said Clabaugh had asked that the screens be sent to a J. W. Gallion, who he said handled repair work for his firm and who would handle the screen contract directly.

But Ackerman said that despite this subsequent "repudiation," Clabaugh had bid on and got the contract. He said he interpreted this as a violation of the law barring dealings in state contracts.

Ackerman said Clabaugh denied to him he had held a contract with the hospital since he had turned it over to Gallion and since he has not received any money on the transaction although the screen has been delivered to the hospital.

Ackerman said his investigation of Clabaugh's books showed the Champaign Republican legislator's firm had received a substantial number of state contracts over a period of several years.

But he said Clabaugh's dealings with the state had almost ceased two years ago and that only the $890 contract came within the statute of limitations.

Ackerman said Clabaugh had indicated to him that a "question" of the propriety of his dealings in state contracts had arisen about two years ago and that he had started to "extricate" himself from dealings with the state.

Claims Union Picket Lines Used in Oregon

Accused Teamster Official Invokes Fifth Amendment

WASHINGTON (UP)—Racketeers backed by the Teamsters Union used picket lines to try to monopolize Oregon pinball machines and saw up profits of $250,000 a year, a gambler testified today.

James B. Elkins, Portland, Ore., gambler and racketeer, told the Senate Labor Rackets Committee that Teamsters Union business agents would insist that owners of taverns and other pinball "locations" use only machines bearing the stamp of the Teamsters.

If they refused, the union threw picket lines around their places, cutting off deliveries and hurting their trade.

There were these other developments:

—Earlier, Portland City Commissioner Stanley W. Earl testified the Teamsters fought his re-election because he rejected its demand that he vote to legalize pinball machines. Earl said Clyde C. Crosby, Teamsters organizer for Oregon, warned him "that I either supported pinballs or I would have political opposition."

—Frank Malloy, Portland Teamsters' Union official accused of closing down the Mt. Hood Cafe because it was using non-union pinball machines, invoked the Fifth Amendment. Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) described Malloy as the "strong arm" man for the union. McClellan instructed committee counsel "to have the staff immediately prepare a resolution of contempt" against Malloy.

Elkins, a veteran of the pinball business, testified that a machine in a good location could take in as much as $200 a day. He said there were nearly 2,000 machines in Portland. They had been outlawed but were still operating while the law was contested in court.

Frank W. Brewster, president of the Western Conference and vice president of the Teamsters Union, was "invited" by the committee today to hear more charges against him by Elkins. Elkins testified Wednesday that Brewster threatened him with sudden death.

Group Approves Higher Savings Bond Interest

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today approved the Treasury Department's request for authority to raise to 3 1/4 per cent the interest rate on government savings bonds purchased on and after Feb. 1.

The interest rate now is 3 per cent. The Treasury wants to make the bonds more attractive to purchasers to bolster sagging sales.

The committee voted to give the Treasury discretionary authority to raise the interest rate on series E and H bonds to as much as 3 1/2 per cent. If the legislation is approved by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower the Treasury would be able to put into operation its announced plan of boosting the interest rate to 3 1/4 per cent retroactive to bonds purchased on or after Feb. 1.

The Treasury had requested discretionary authority to raise the rate as high as 4 1/4 per cent in the future if it decided further sweetening was necessary to promote sales.

Arensman's Store to Observe Anniversary With Open House

THE BUILDING has been remodeled completely three times but except for the first 18 months of its existence it has been in the same location for fifty years.

It was back on Feb. 10, 1907 that O. Arensman opened his shoe store on the north side of the square, but a year and a half later it was moved to the east side of the square, the spot where his son, James, operates the same store right now.

Back in the earlier days the store bore the name, O. Arensman's Quality Shoes, and it was the only exclusive shoe store in Harrisburg for years and years.

And this Saturday, the store will hold an open house celebrating fifty years of operation in this city. Present to welcome callers will be Mr. and Mrs. James Arensman, the owners; Nora Arensman, widow of O. Arensman and mother of James; and Stella McClure, who worked in the store approximately 30 years. Nora Arensman owns the building.

James took over management of the store in 1933, about the time that his father's eyesight began to fail, and has run the store since. Between that time and his death in April, 1940, O. Arensman devoted most of his time to his farm.

Styles have changed plenty since those early days. Gone are the high button shoes, but some of these old timers sold at Arensman's years ago will be shown. One pair of black satin and owned Nora Arensman.

But except for men's work shoes and shoes for babies, all shoes kept in stock at Arensman's are low cut. James said that occasionally a pair of men's dress shoes that lace up past the ankles are ordered for someone who still prefers that type.

Arensman's Shoe Store will not have a big gigantic sale to celebrate the anniversary. Instead, it was decided upon to run special sales events on particular items at intervals through the year.

Administration Program Would Establish Loans to Communities

WASHINGTON (UP)—Four Republican congressmen today unveiled the Eisenhower administration's new program to create jobs in areas suffering chronic unemployment.

The program was almost identical to one that failed to win House or Senate approval last year.

However, the new legislation would make it easier for local communities to qualify for federal loans to help rebuild their economies.

The bill would establish a $50 million fund from which certain areas suffering chronic unemployment could borrow money to set up new industries. It also would allow the federal government to give such communities up to 1 1/2 million dollars to make studies of how to provide for their economic growth.

To qualify under the program, a community would have to have at least 8 per cent of its normal manpower unemployed for the major portion of the past two years.

Federal loans would be available to these communities provided the local community could raise 15 per cent of the money required to establish a new industry. State and private financial sources would have to provide at least 50 per cent of the required sums.

The federal government then would lend the area up to 35 per cent of the funds needed. Last year's program required the local community to raise 25 per cent of the money and the federal share was limited to 25 per cent.

No federal funds could be loaned to any economic development program if that program would create unemployment in other areas.

Such federal loans would be restricted to areas where an "overall" program was developed for the entire area. The state in which the area was located would have to approve of the project.

Borrowers also would be required to exhaust the possibilities of loans on reasonable terms from private lenders or other federal agencies before applying for a loan from the special chronic employment fund.

The legislation last year was approved by the House Banking Committee, but never reached the House floor for a vote.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Moreover in a pillar of cloud thou leddest them by day.—Nehemiah 9:12.

The account of the cloud by day gave the Israelites complete faith in God's love and guidance. Christ taught a simpler technique, the inner voice will guide us if we sincerely ask for wisdom and follow the inner voice.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: FDR Jr. Finds Dictator Trujillo Too Bloody; Teamsters Find Nashville Tennessee Too Tough; Why Did U. S. A. Let Russian Arms Pile Up In Egypt?

WASHINGTON. — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. has decided to give up his $60,000 contract as lobbyist of bloody dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. Trujillo's latest reported involvement in the disappearance of Jerry Murphy, the pilot who reputedly spirited Columbia Professor Jesus De Galindez out of the U. S. A., was too much for young Roosevelt.

However, he's having trouble with his lobbying partner, Charles Patrick, who makes a specialty of lobbying for dictators. He draws around $75,000 a year from Spain.

Roosevelt informed Congressman Charles Porter of Oregon that he was not renewing his contract with Trujillo. But when Patrick's office was asked about this, Patrick said he knew of no change, later called Congressman Porter's office to say there had been no change in his and Roosevelt's contract with Trujillo.

Meanwhile, Congressman Porter has written letters to his GOP colleague, Congressman Katharine St. George of New York, to Col. Carroll Cone, vice president of Pan American Airways, and to Father Joseph P. Thurning, who has been active around Congress on behalf of both Trujillo and Franco, cautioning them about the medals they are getting from Trujillo. Porter has suggested that they might want to read a speech he is delivering regarding the murders of the Dominican Republic before they accept or keep their medals.

TENNESSEE TEAMSTERS

Last July John Seigenthaler, ace reporter for the Nashville Tennessean, telephoned Dave Beck, czar of the Teamsters Union, to tell him that two of his Tennessee Teamster bosses, Local 317, had police records and were up to the ears in local shenanigans. He also relayed the same message to Jim Hoffa, notorious Teamster czar for the Midwest states.

Seigenthaler has yet to get an answer from either. Meanwhile, Teamster activities in Tennessee are following a pattern which AFL-CIO President George Meany and most of the labor movement sincerely want to clean up, but which the boss of the world's biggest union condones.

W. A. Smith, Nashville Teamster business agent, has had numerous arrests for drunkenness and assault, but somehow witnesses always seem to be afraid to appear against him. In 1935 he was arrested for beating up Wallace Rasmussen, general manager of the Meadowgold Ice Cream company. Rasmussen was all hot to press charges. But when Smith went to trial, Rasmussen refused to take the witness stand. Teamsters' power was too great.

On Oct. 30, 1935, Smith was arrested for assaulting Frank Allen, manager of the Terminal Transport company. Allen hired an attorney to make sure the case was prosecuted. But on the morning the case came up in court the lawyer announced that he was most embarrassed, but Allen would not testify. Again the power of the Teamsters was too great.

Recently, however, thanks to a campaign by the Nashville Tennessean, the climate has changed. Teamsters Perry H. Canaday and C. B. Richardson have been convicted of murder, and other Teamsters have been fined for contempt of court. Messrs. Beck and Hoffa, however, did nothing to clean up.

WHY THE RUSSIAN ARMS?

When the fast-moving Israeli army blitzed into Egypt last fall, it found the most amazing cache of arms accumulated anywhere since World War II. Russian tanks, artillery, half-tracks, ammunition of every kind and desertion were spread out over the Sinai desert. The store of arms was so vast and varied that unquestionably it was to be used not only as an Egyptian base for attacking Israel, but for some kind of Russian drive to take over the Near East.

The Israeli army wiped out or captured this arsenal. One very important point to be considered in any UN debate for the punishment of Israel is why this stock of arms was allowed to accumulate and whether its accumulation was not in fact an act of aggression against Israel. If, for instance, Russia stored arms 25 miles across the Mexican border from El Paso, the citizens of Texas and probably the rest of the United States would have done exactly what the Israelis did.

It's also important to note that these arms didn't get to the Egyptian-Israeli border overnight. The United States first got word they were coming one year and four months earlier — June 1955. One month later, the President met with Bulganin and Khrushchev at Geneva. Yet nothing was done during the smiles of Geneva to stop arms shipments obviously aimed at war.

Two months later, Secretary Dulles stopped a move by Secretary of Agriculture Benson to dump surplus American cotton abroad, because, Dulles said, it would hurt America's cotton-growing friends such as Egypt.

A few months later, Dulles began to urge Nasser to accept money for the Aswan dam. Nasser played coy, said he might get the money from Russia. Dulles urged, almost begged him to take the money. Meanwhile, U. S. intelligence agents reported and American newspapers published that Russian arms were pouring into Egypt, that Russian pilots were training Egyptian pilots, that Russian technicians were training Egyptian tankmen.

All this time not a thing was done by the United States to stop the arms flow, which was sure to lead to war.

Note 1—These arms, incidentally, were only 25 miles from the home of Prime Minister Ben-Gurion. Egyptian jet bases were less than 30 minutes bombardment time away Tel Aviv.

Note 2—Harry Truman told me on Feb. 21, 1956, eight months before the Israeli attack: "If I were in the White House I'd use the U. S. Sixth Fleet to stop those arms before they even got through the Bosphorus."

Religious Parties Hit Indonesia President's Plan

Sukarno Seeks to Abandon West Gov't For Red-Style Rule

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Indonesia's religious parties united today to reject President Sukarno's efforts to abandon the Western democratic system and install a "guided democracy" with Communist participation.

An estimated 100,000 Communists and left-wing sympathizers gathered outside the presidential palace to shout their approval of Sukarno's "new style" government, but soldiers with fixed bayonets and armored cars prevented incidents.

The city was tense after a night of terror in which Red squads of veterans roamed the streets, firing into the air and "kidnaping" a number of persons. Foreigners remained at home today and foreign embassies expressed concern lest violence erupt.

The nation's political leaders delivered their views to Sukarno at his palace, each political party sending in a group of three delegates to state their views. Party leaders said he would study the proposals and that the parties would meet again next week.

Political observers said it was too early to state that the religious parties had won a victory—the next move is still up to Sukarno. Observers feared political crisis and chaos would continue in search for a compromise to placate both Reds and anti-Communist Moslem and Christian parties. Others said Sukarno had staked his reputation on winning support for his plan and might be reluctant to compromise.

Many saw today's developments as an "hour of decision" for Indonesia, with the Communists mounting all of their strength to crash into the government with Sukarno's blessing. Some anti-Red countries of Asia expressed concern.

Teen-Age Girl Claims Dishwasher's Pictures Carried in Wallet of Slain Girl

CHICAGO —A Skid Row dishwasher was thrust back into the limelight today on the basis of a teen-ager girl's statement that she had seen his pictures in the wallet of one of the slain Grimes sisters.

Dolores Castillo, 15, also told police that Barbara Grimes, 15, was "wild about" Edward L. (Benjie the Dishwasher) Bedwell, 21, and had dated the Skid Row Romeo.

Bedwell confessed and later denied that he and a friend named "Frank" had slugged Barbara and her sister, Patricia, 13, and then dumped them nude in a roadside ditch to freeze.

The sisters disappeared last Dec. 28 after attending a movie starring their idol, Elvis Presley. Their bodies were found Jan. 22.

In his confession, Bedwell said he and his companion accompanied the girls on a week-long Skid Row sex and liquor orgy before their deaths. Bedwell was charged with murder but later freed on bond.

Many authorities have discounted Bedwell's confession because medical findings indicate the girls died the night they disappeared.

The Castillo girl told police Wednesday she withheld her disclosure because she was "scared" and had "sworn to Barbara to keep her secret."

The victims' mother, Mrs. Loretta Grimes, quickly disputed Dolores' story. Mrs. Grimes said she had frequently checked Barbara's wallet and the only pictures it contained were those of rock 'n' roll singer Presley, whom Bedwell resembled.

Would Meet for Dates
However, Dolores, who served as a pallbearer at the girls' funeral, insisted she could distinguish between Presley and the Skid Row dishwasher.

The chubby high school girl said Barbara told her she was "wild about Eddie" and would meet him in downtown stores for dates. One of Barbara's sisters also went out with "Eddie" and a man called either "Frank" or "Joe," Dolores told police.

Dolores said she did not know whether the other sister was Patricia or the dead girls' older sister, Theresa. However, Barbara did confide that the sister "stole Eddie away from her," Dolores said.

Police last week assigned a guard to Dolores when she reported she feared she was being followed home from school by a man in a car. She had been questioned repeatedly in the case.

Authorities said they had no way of confirming the girl's statements. Mrs. Grimes told police a boy had stolen Barbara's wallet and destroyed it along with the pictures.

Most of the dehydrated potatoes now being produced are in the form of dice, with their biggest use in canned stews and hashes.

Former Head of Chicago Internal Revenue Office, Four Others Indicted

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Ernest J. Sauber, former head of the internal revenue office here, and four other men were under indictment today on charges of trying to help a company evade its income taxes.

A 10-count indictment against Sauber and the others was returned Wednesday by a federal grand jury.

They were accused of conspiracy to defraud the government in the exercise of its tax functions and of concealing the taxable income of the Shotwell Manufacturing Co.

Sauber, a veteran of 21 years with the Internal Revenue Service, was dismissed from his post as Chicago area district director last August.

Others named included Harold E. Sullivan, executive vice president of the defunct candy company; Byron Cain, the firm's president and treasurer; and Leon J. Busby, a public accountant.

The fifth man cited was Ralph R. Johnson, chief of the field audit branch of the district director's office under Sauber and now employed by the Internal Revenue Service in a lesser capacity.

Named by the jury as co-conspirators but not indicted were Frank J. Huebner, a vice president of Shotwell, and Patrick J. Grace Jr., a Brooklyn, N. Y., attorney now dead.

The indictment charged that Cain asked Huebner in July of 1948 for $10,000 to "take care of and fix" tax difficulties. The indictment said the payment was made, but it did not say who got the money.

The indictment alleged that in 1953 Sauber gave false testimony at the Shotwell company's trial on charges of evading $288,607 in income taxes for 1945. He testified that the firm made a voluntary disclosure of its dealings in 1947 and thereby invalidated the prosecution.

Diplomatic Victory

American, Israeli Officials Put Final Touches on Agreement

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Israeli and American officials meet here today to put the final touches on a historic agreement for Israel to withdraw its troops from Egyptian territory.

High diplomatic authorities said Wednesday night that Israel had agreed with the United States and France on a formula for Israeli troop withdrawal that the Jewish nation feels will protect its borders and shipping.

Details of the agreement were not disclosed. Formal announcement of the historic accord was expected "this week end" — possibly Friday—either at the United Nations in New York or here.

Actual Israeli troop withdrawals from the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aqaba coast regions of Egypt are expected to begin soon after the announcement, diplomatic sources said.

Eban Sees Break
Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, whose constant shuttling back and forth between Israel, New York and Washington helped forge the accord, told the United Press:

"I think we've broken through." Diplomats said further discussions between Israeli and U. S. officials today are necessary to "tie up loose ends" and put the agreement in "proper, legal language."

If Israel does withdraw from remaining Egyptian territory it will be credited as a victory for American diplomacy, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have devoted much of their time recently to forging

Father of Three Sentenced 99 Years For Killing Wife
DANVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—A father of three children who shot his wife to death in front of the family's Christmas tree has been sentenced to 99 years in prison.

The shooting occurred last Dec. 21 during an argument between Charles E. Herman, 24, and his wife, Mary, 23.

Circuit Judge Robert F. Cotton passed sentence Wednesday after a jury of nine women and three men found him guilty. Cotton granted Herman's attorneys 10 days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

"I'll sweep the nation," he said. Dodgson, who owns 10 beauty salons, said the Presley cut will give women a "natural and casual look, but still have the reckless touch."

Now He Knows

DETROIT (U.P.)—William L. Carey, 77, learned he had been breaking the law for more than a quarter of a century when he went to traffic court to argue about a traffic ticket.

Carey, who was ticketed for making a right turn against a red light, pleaded that no one ever told him about the law prohibiting such turns.

He said he had been making right turns against red lights ever since the law was passed more than a quarter of a century ago but never before was ticketed.

Areas Hit by Flooding Rivers

By United Press

Flooding rivers, fed with melted snow, forced hundreds from their homes in the Northwest, and dangerously high rivers threatened to spill over their banks in other parts of the nation today.

The Red Cross rushed bedding, food, milk and other necessities for some 300 residents of Wilson, Wash., who spent the night in schools, churches and homes of nearby farmers after the town was covered with up to five feet of water.

The Meramec River in Missouri was expected to surge one to six feet over flood stage within the next few days and the Kaskaskia River in Illinois was expected to crest four feet over flood level.

Heavy rains in the Ohio River tributaries in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio produced some minor overflows in the Wabash and Scioto river basins. Lowland flooding also occurred along the Neuse River in North Carolina and on the middle and lower reaches of the James River in Virginia.

Colder air swept into the north-eastern part of the nation today, but warmer temperatures lingered over the central section.

Two Arrested For Execution-Type Slayings

HARTFORD, Conn. (U.P.)—Police Wednesday night arrested two men, one of whom was freed only last year from "death row," when one confessed they killed six persons in the Hartford area in Chinese-execution style.

Held for arraignment on murder charges today were Joseph Taborsky, 33, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and formerly of Hartford, and Arthur Colombe, also 33, an ex-convict.

State Police Commissioner Joseph C. Kelly refused to say which had confessed and implicated the other. The six victims were killed over only a two-month period. All were forced to kneel before they were shot in the head. This method of murder was borrowed from the Chinese.

If convicted, Taborsky and Colombe could be executed.

Taborsky and his brother, Albert, were convicted in 1951 of the murder of a Hartford package store dealer during a holdup.

Sentenced to death, Joseph Taborsky spent four years in death row at Connecticut State Prison during legal efforts to obtain his freedom.

He was freed last year by the state Supreme Court of Errors on the ground that testimony given by Albert Taborsky was invalid because Albert had been adjudged insane and committed to a mental hospital.

He said in a House speech that strongman Rafael Trujillo's regime was directly responsible for the disappearance of both Jesus de Galindez, a Columbia University professor, and Gerald L. Murphy, young Eugene, Ore., flier.

He said there is strong evidence

$212,720 Savings Bonds Sold in Saline County in January

Saline county residents purchased a total of $212,720 in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in January 1957, according to figures received from the Treasury Department by Harley H. Shepherd of Harrisburg, Volunteer Savings Bonds county chairman.

Walter J. Lozier, Acting State Director of the Savings Department's U. S. Savings Bonds Division for Illinois, announced that sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in the state totaled $44,887,836, last month, showing a decline of 17.1% from sales in January 1956. Illinois sales accounted for 9.6% of national sales of $465,225,000.

The 1957 quota for Illinois has been set at $444,000,000, Lozier reported, and in January 10.1% of the quota has been attained.

Pact Extends Televising Of Friday Night Fights

Gillespie Man Admits Strangling His Sweetheart

LITCHFIELD, Ill. (U.P.)—Authorities said today that Irvin V. Moore, 40, Gillespie, admitted strangling his 36-year-old sweetheart Wednesday night because he was afraid she would leave him for another man.

Moore told Montgomery County State's Atty. Otto E. Funk he strangled Mrs. Evelyn Allan, a divorcee who worked as a secretary in Hillsboro, in Macoupin County about four miles west of Gillespie.

He said he then drove around for about two hours trying to figure out what to do.

Moore said he drove up to the Harold Gannon farm house in Montgomery County three miles east of here about 10 o'clock and told Gannon there was a dead woman in his car.

Gannon called Sheriff Clem Neely who found Mrs. Allan's body in the back seat of the car.

Moore's admission that he strangled Mrs. Allan was born out by Dr. E. Hagensbrach, a St. Louis pathologist who examined the body.

Moore, Mrs. Allan and Mrs. Allan's mother, Mrs. Lydia Fanning, dined together Wednesday night in the Fanning home in Gillespie.

Secret Service Smashes Chicago Counterfeit Ring

CHICAGO (U.P.)—The Secret Service announced it has smashed a counterfeit ring which passed about $5,000 worth of bogus $10 bills in shops and stores during the 1956 Christmas rush.

Paul J. Pateni, agent in charge of the Chicago office, said the ring was discovered in a Jan. 15 raid on a printing plant in a vacant store here.

He said the gang printed about $50,000 worth of phony $10 bills and had hoped to pass all of them during the busy Christmas season.

A six-week investigation after the raid resulted in the roundup of 12 men in Chicago and Kansas City, Mo., the agent said.

The bogus bills were described by Pateni as a "poor job, hastily done" for the Yuletide shopping season. He said the picture of Alexander Hamilton was fuzzy and the green ink darker than that used on good bills.

Four men were arrested here Wednesday on charges of conspiracy to counterfeit. The men were identified as Paul Porpora, 33; Alfred Casaccio, 35; his brother, Joseph, 28, and Christopher Talles, 35.

Two others, already on probation on charges of possessing bogus bills, are Frank De Pino, 29, and Martin Madonia, 26. Two more still facing trial are George Winston Baker Jr., 26, and Raymond Reynolds, 22.

Legislative Group Urges Extension Of State Park Fees

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—A legislative study commission today recommended extension of a 10 cent admission fee to additional state parks and a $2 annual sticker system for admission to parks where the 10 cent fee is charged.

The 10 cent per person fee is presently charged at Illinois Beach, White Pines, Mississippi Palisades, Starved Rock, Mathiesens, Pere Marquette and Grand Marais state parks.

But the commission recommended that the admission fee also be charged at other parks where it is "economically feasible." A Conservation Department spokesman said charging of a fee is being considered at a dozen or more state parks.

The $2 annual sticker would cover admission for a car and all its occupants for a year.

Legislation would be required to put the commission's recommendations into effect.

Candidate Quits Race at Mt. Vernon

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (U.P.)—Joe Dull was left as the lone active candidate today for mayor of Mount Vernon.

Virgil T. Bailey who ran far behind Dull in Tuesday's primary announced Wednesday he would withdraw from the race. But the city clerk's office said Bailey's name could not be taken off the ballot.

Approximately 2,400 persons are killed accidentally by firearms in the United States every year.

There are between 400,000 and 600,000 words in the English language.

Educable and Trainable Special Training Programs Now Offered Mentally Retarded Child

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—About a child in 50 enters the first grade with no chance whatever of graduating from high school.
This child has an IQ below 75, on a scale where 100 is the arbitrary figure for normal. The child is not a genius. No matter how hard he tries, or how hard his teachers and parents try to help him, he can't make the regular academic grade.
Twenty years ago, he would have become one of the human rejects of the educational machinery. After failing two or three grades, he would have been allowed to drop out of school.
Today, according to a woman who has done much to make it possible, this mentally retarded child can stay in school and, through special training programs tailored to his capabilities, can prepare for "an adult life that will be useful, happy and normal in all essential respects."

"We believe," said Dr. Elizabeth M. Kelly, "that a mentally retarded child who grows up to be self-supporting has achieved as great a victory in life as the bright child who becomes a famous lawyer, doctor or college professor."
"If the parents of a handicapped child accept him for what he is, and plan for his future in realistic terms instead of hopeless dreams, he will find his niche in life. And by the time he is grown, no one will think of him as mentally retarded."

Some Are "Trainable"
Dr. Kelly is superintendent of special education in the Newark, N. J., public schools, and president of the International Council for Exceptional Children. The council, a department of the National Education Assn., has been a major influence in establishing special courses for mentally retarded children in virtually every U. S. public school system since World War II.
While these courses differ in some details, all are based on the concept that the low-IQ child, who may learn next to nothing in the regular classroom, can learn a good deal if put into a separate group under a teacher with special training.

Dr. Kelly said mentally retarded children are generally subdivided into two categories. Those with IQs in the range of 50 to 75 are described as "educable." Those under 50 are called "trainable."
School programs for "trainable" children focus on helping them achieve self-sufficiency in daily living, and a degree of social adjustment.
"There's not much point in trying to teach these children to read and write," Dr. Kelly said in an interview. "But we've found

Poll Discloses Why Teachers are Teachers
LOS ANGELES (UP)—Why do people become teachers?
According to a poll of 230 future teachers enrolled in an introduction course the most important reasons given were:
1. Exposure to an inspirational teacher.
2. Encouragement from friends and relatives.
3. Newspaper accounts of teacher shortages.
Of the future teachers interviewed, 50 per cent said they decided on a teaching career while still in high school. Of the group, 18.2 per cent had one or more parents who were teachers.
Other reasons for the decision were:
The opportunity and challenge of working with youngsters; a chance to make a contribution to democratic living and work in a profession that permits continuous growth while in service.
Men rated salary at 14th, while women rated it 12th.

'Giant' to Show At Orpheum For Five Days

"Giant," a George Stevens film production from the novel by Edna Ferber, starring Elizabeth Taylor, Rock Hudson and James Dean, will be shown five days at the Orpheum Theatre, beginning Friday, March 1.
Stevens has devoted all his time since 1953 to making the picture to match in scope and importance the Ferber novel. He has entertained millions with such pictures as "A. A. Milne in the Sun," which won him an Academy award, "Shane," "Alice Adams," "Gunfight at O'Reilly's," "The Talk of the Town."
Other actors in "Giant" include Jane Withers, Chill Wills, Mercedes McCambridge, Carroll Baker, Sal Mineo, Judith Evelyn, Dennis Hopper, Paul Fix and Alexander Scourby.
Filming "Giant" carried Stevens & Company to the scenes envisioned by Miss Ferber in her novel—Virginia and Texas. Stevens began his picture where Miss Ferber began her book—in the lovely Virginia countryside near Charlottesville. Following two weeks of shooting here, the company moved to the vast open spaces near Marfa, Texas for the better part of three months. Interior scenes were shot before the cameras at Warner Bros. in Burbank, Cal.
Many unusual incidents marked the making of "Giant" but two symbolize the magnitude of the entire operation. These involved transferring to Texas a re-fabricated three-story Victorian mansion, which required five railroad flat cars, and a dozen imitation oil wells.
Yes, incredible as it may seem, Warners carried oil wells to Texas for the fact is, there are none in the area around Marfa. One of Warners' prop wells was even made to pump 2,200 gallons of ersatz oil a minute.
Most of the Texas photography on "Giant" occurred at the immense Worth Evans Ranch, which is described as "62 times as big as Monaca."
During 1955 Pennsylvania had 27 fires in which the damage exceeded a quarter-million dollars.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT To 59th DISTRICT By Representative GORDON E. KERR

With the first session of the General Assembly since re-apportionment two months old, bills are being introduced faster than expected. It now appears that nearly 200 bills will be introduced.
Ideas never thought of are now being put in the form of a bill and introduced. Including five different reform bills, all different. This is the result of the Hodge affair. Some of the reforms will receive little consideration. This writer believes the proposal to create a Joint Legislative Audit Commission is the answer, without changing any State office. This commission would employ an Auditor General, who would have the power to audit all State offices and its departments.
The subject of highway safety has brought many bills into the hopper. Most set a speed of 65 miles per hour on two-lane roads. A better than even chance that a speed limit will become law this session.

This session of the General Assembly will be loaded with political activity with both parties taking advantage of political breaks. Although the Republicans have a majority in the House, on two different occasions they have lost to the Democrats on test votes. However on very important issues, in most cases politics do not enter.
The members of this district are being contacted in regard to economy in government. The past week two business men from this district came to Springfield only for the purpose to talk to their legislators about economy. They stayed two days to watch the sessions and find out just what was going on. At the end of the second day one of them made the remark "I just wished everyone from the 59th district could learn what we have. Every person from this district should if possible attend one session of the G. A. If that is not possible they should read this paper regular for news about their State government."

A bill that has created a lot of talk is the one that will cut down the expense of Aid To Dependent Children. This bill introduced by Rep. Pollack would limit aid payments to the first child of an unwed mother. Any other children she might bear out of wedlock.
The splash guard law of last session, seems sure to be repealed. My free fishing and hunting license bill for citizens over 65 was killed in committee. A one dollar increase in hunting and fishing license seems sure of passage. The necessary money for lake, hunting areas and improvements are to be made.
RE WISE: on the highway regulate your speed to meet the road and driving conditions.

Social Security Disability Payments Commence in July

The year 1957 is an important one for those who are disabled or those who might become disabled. If you are so severely disabled that you are unable to work, you or your family may have rights under one or more of these three parts of the social security law.
(1) If you are disabled and are 50 years of age and older, you may be eligible for cash disability insurance payments, beginning with a payment for the month of July 1957.
(2) If you are disabled and your disability began while you were under 18 years of age, you may be eligible as of January 1957 to receive child's insurance benefits, even after reaching age 18, if either your father or your mother is receiving old-age insurance payments or if you have lost the support through death of a parent who was insured for benefits.
(3) If you are disabled and have not yet reached 50 years of age, you may be eligible to have your social security earnings record "frozen" to protect your own or your family's rights to future benefit payments because of old-age disability or death.
If you, or someone in your family believe you may qualify under one of these provisions, see your social security office for further information about these new disability provisions of the social security law. It is important for those already disabled that applications for disability payments be filed no later than December 1957. For some persons now disabled, moreover, it is important that application be made soon to receive benefit payments because of old-age disability or death.
A disabled person who has not worked after September 1954 will not be able to meet the work requirements if he delays filing a claim until after June 29 of this year. As a result, he would not be eligible to have his social security record frozen, nor to receive disability insurance benefits at age 50. He would have to wait until regular retirement age to receive any benefits, and those benefits would be reduced because of the time when he was unable to work and keep up his social security record.
For many a younger disabled worker, it may also mean the complete loss of all benefit rights. The social security office at Harrisburg will be glad to provide additional information.

Commerce Department Says Inflation Cuts Into Economic Gains

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Commerce Department said Tuesday night that inflation is cutting into real economic gains.
"Business activity was at a sustained high rate as 1956 drew to a close," the department's annual review of current business said. "Gross national product, personal income, consumer spending, and other major dollar measures were up 3 to 6 per cent from a year earlier."
However, with higher prices an important contributing factor, the gains in real terms were more limited. Prices at both wholesale and retail were still rising at the end of the year.

Attend Funeral

Mrs. Wilson Murphy and daughter, Judy, of Carrier Mills returned Sunday from Warren, Mich., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Murphy's son, George Quentin Kelley.
Mr. Kelley died at the Holy Cross hospital in Detroit, Mich. Catholic rites were held and burial was at the Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

BUFFALO GRASS

By Frank Gruber

Copyright 1956 by Frank Gruber. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Pawnee City is being built in Kansas to receive cattle herds driven from Texas to the new railroad line. Chad Morgan and Joe Jagger have used stolen gold to construct a hotel and stockyards at the townsite.

It was raining in Pawnee City, but a score of carpenter's hammers banged away at the soggy lumber. The buffalo grass, long since worn down by the treading of many boots and horses' hoofs, had exposed the earth and this was now a veritable sea of mud.

Carrying his valise, Morgan stepped down from the train and began to slough through the quagmire; there was a frown on his face, which had deepened to a scowl by the time he reached the partial shelter of the skeleton hotel. The veranda alone was roofed and here Morgan found Jagger, wearing a poncho and gloomily watching the work of the carpenters.

He saw Morgan and his face lit up. "Chad," he cried, "I was just thinking about you!"

"I imagine," Morgan said grimly. He nodded toward the interior of the skeleton hotel. "I expected this would be completed by now." Jagger groaned. "Why do you think we're working in the rain? They're behind, that's why. I had to offer every one of these men a bonus to come out here, from Kansas City."

"Can we afford that?" Jagger turned, pointed down the main street of Pawnee City. "The general store's almost ready and that big place there, that's going to be The Longhorn Saloon." Jagger grimaced. "Fellow's put up a tent saloon already."

"I asked," said Morgan, "have we got enough money for all this?" "No," replied Jagger bluntly. "The stockyards and loading pens cost more than I'd counted on." Morgan took a deep breath. "We're in debt?"

"Fifty thousand dollars. That's for lumber, equipment and supplies." "How much cash have we got?" "Enough to pay the carpenters for one more week." "And then?"

"There'd better be some cattle here by then," Jagger suddenly grinned. A week went by and Jagger paid off the workmen. A train came into Pawnee City bringing three flock-coated men. Cattle buyers.

"Bilked again," groaned one of them when he saw the incomplete hotel.

"The first herd will be here in two days," Jagger assured them. He winked at Morgan. "I've had word."

It was Saturday and the foreman of the carpenters came to Jagger. "It's payday, Mr. Jagger," he said. Jagger groaned. "I expected the money on the train. It didn't come. It'll surely be here on next week's train."

"Mr. Jagger," said the carpenter foreman, "you haven't got any money coming on the train. You're broke."

The foreman went off and talked to his men. With the result that they were soon gathered around the saloon tent. An hour later Morgan, his Navy gun strapped about his waist, went to the tent saloon.

A balding man with a great scar down his right cheek was dipping tin cups into an open barrel of whiskey and selling them for 50 cents a cupful.

"Close up," Morgan said.

The tent saloon man glowered at

Morgan. "What for?"

"Because I'm telling you."

"I paid Jagger $50 for a license," snapped the whiskey seller. "I ain't sold enough whiskey yet to make that back."

"I said, close up."

The whiskey seller stopped behind his opened whiskey barrel. Morgan drew his Navy gun and sent a bullet into the barrel. The man behind it straightened up with a scatter-gun in his hands. But he looked into the muzzle of the Navy gun and dropped the shotgun. Meanwhile, whiskey trickled from the hole Morgan had put into the barrel.

A half-drunken carpenter started to put his tin cup under the hole. Morgan kicked the cup out of his hand.

"When the first cattle herd comes into Pawnee City," Morgan said to the whiskey man, "you can open up again. In the meantime, you're not going to sell liquor to the workmen."

Morgan found Jagger in the wet, dripping interior of the hotel. "How much longer can you hold the cattle buyers?" he asked. "Until the next train," replied Jagger; "there's no other way for them to get out."

Morgan got Jagger's horse, a rangy bay. He packed some jerky in the saddlebags and dropping a poncho over his head and shoulders, started out.

The river, two miles out of Pawnee City, had spilled over its southern banks so that the prairie seemed to be a lake. Morgan swam his horse across the river and rode then for five miles through water a foot deep and another foot of mud below it. When he finally got onto comparatively solid ground, he stopped his mount and looked ahead of him.

The prairie was lush and verdant. The buffalo grass had one well with the continual rains of the past two weeks.

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— Unconsciously scratching your head or tapping your foot is probably good for you, according to Dr. Maria Constance Maginnis.

She said that unconscious gestures may be necessary "escape valves" for repressed emotions.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

No Luxurious Furnishings for Newsmen Covering Legislature

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Newspaper reporters covering the State Legislature, the State House and State Government in Springfield, have adequate facilities for their expanding number but it isn't as plushy as some of the legislators' quarters. Legislators, smarting under stories about luxurious furnishings in a new legislative lounge and in state officials' offices, have suggested the reporters write about it themselves.

Facts are, as one correspondent put it, that about the only similarity between the modernistic legislative lounge and the State House press room, is that both are on the third floor but that ends comparison. The lounge has deep rich-looking carpets, expensive drapes, plushy chairs and sofas. The press room has an asphalt tile floor, second-hand, or prison-made desks and chairs and wire wastebaskets from the surplus property inventory.

Instead of the expensive drapes at the windows of the lounge, the press room has ordinary venetian blinds which have been in use for several years. Other press room equipment includes two oak tables and chairs loaned it by the office of House Speaker Warren L. Wood, Plainfield, and a rebuilt bookcase with glass sliding doors, found in a storage room.

Other press room furniture includes two second hand leather chairs and two second hand sofas, one of them a donation by Gov. William G. Stratton. At the entrance to the press room is a glass aluminum door intended for another state office but discarded. It wound up at the press room. It will eventually have the words "Working Press" painted on it.

Press room equipment also includes a single-legged table, a cast-off from a state office and used to support the dictionary. Typewriters are borrowed from various state offices, and a two plate burner is used to keep coffee warm. One of the borrowed tables from Wood's office is used for an improvised lunch served when the Legislature is in session and there's no time out to eat.

Additions to the press room include two new rooms formerly used by the Senate Appropriations committee. One is a combination library-work room and the other is for the purpose of accommodating additional downstate correspondents. The latter room has been cut up into booths with plywood and frosted glass partitions, five feet high, each to accommodate two downstate correspondents.

The press room at the height of a legislative session or during some outstanding event such as the state fair, a state convention such as the Illinois State Federation of Labor or any of the military veteran's organizations, has from 30 to 40 correspondents on the Springfield scene. Press room affairs are supervised by the Illinois Legislative Correspondents association.

Michigan has a total of 47 state parks and 13 recreation areas.

Television Networks Blueprint Season Menu

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — This is blueprint season at the networks—the time of year when officials start shaping up your TV menu for the 1957-58 semester.

Right now the trends seem to indicate more horsepower and lungpower. Westerns and musical shows both are on the upswing.

The leader in revamping its fall schedule is ABC-TV. The big projected western on its docket is a Gary Cooper one hour filmed series. Walt Disney is building "Zorro" for the network and there is a vigilante-type number coming up called "The Californians."

Because of its success with the Lawrence Welk shows, ABC-TV is moving heavily into music. Frank Sinatra is the network's prize catch. He'll front a half-hour variety series plus two 60-minute special shows.

Pat Boone will weigh in with a half-hour musical for ABC-TV and so will Guy Mitchell.

NBC-TV is entering the they-went-thataway field with "Wagon Train," a one-hour western. "Pony Express" is another possibility at NBC-TV.

CBS-TV has at least two westerns on its drawing boards— "Have Gun, Will Travel" with Richard Boone and "Cavalry Patrol" with Dewey Martin.

Musically, the key one at CBS-TV will be Patti Page's "The Big Record."

And, of course, spectaculars. You can expect to see one a week from NBC-TV including "Annie Get Your Gun" with Mary Martin. And from CBS-TV—"Aladdin," written by S. J. Perelman.

All schools participating and pre-school children invited.

March 25, 1 p. m. at Horace Mann. All schools participating. Pre-school children invited.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Getting acquainted is a process which requires an exchange of names and ideas. We want to know what people do, where they live, and what they believe. Finally we want to know how they act and whether they "practice what they preach."

We may hide a lot of our experiences, our habits and our feelings, but there is much more to becoming acquainted than merely making a good first impression. Friendship requires sympathetic understanding, a willingness to give as well as take, and a helpfulness even when effort is required.

Those who get acquainted with God find His friendship more satisfying than even the best of human friendship. He takes us at face value. We do not have to hide our secret sins from Him. He knows them already. He forgives our faults and helps us overcome our weaknesses. He is constant and completely loving.

Cairo Petitions Protest

Removal of Air Service

CAIRO, Ill. — Cairo citizens are passing petitions protesting the removal of Ozark Airline service to the city. The Civil Aeronautics Board recently authorized Ozark to suspend service to Cairo. The airline said it was losing money on the operation.

The average Russian farmer produces only enough food to feed himself and two others.

Many Rely On Register Classifieds

Earl Scott, employed as a welder in Chicago reads the Register want ads though he has been employed away from home for 16 years. He has identified the woman on the WLS barndance who had a farm for sale as Mrs. Mae Richardson at Bankston or Salline 4.

Mr. Scott said that he and Carl Foster, Harrisburg, swam in the pond she mentioned, before the mine was sunk, and that his grandfather lived across the highway from Mrs. Richardson's property which is the former Peabody 44 mine property.

It is a coincidence that the man who wanted to locate the farm owner, and the man who helped him to do so, both live in Chicago. But, it is no coincidence that they and many, many others rely on Register classifieds to buy, sell or trade something or services to offer.

Illinois Families Receive $183 Million In Death Payments

NEW YORK — Illinois families received almost $183 million in death claim payments from life insurance companies during 1956, the Institute of Life Insurance reported.

Payments were made on 120,911 policies, the institute said Tuesday, compared with the 1955 payments of nearly $165 million under 114,928 policies.

"The death benefits paid in this state last year were 85 per cent more than 10 years ago," the institute reported. This is to be interpreted as a greater amount of insurance policies and not an increase in the death rate, "which declined nationally about one-fourth" during the same period, the institute said.

Illinois ranked third in the nation in payments, behind New York and Pennsylvania.

Senate Committee Slashes Million From Appropriation for Vaccine

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — A bill to appropriate $1,500,000 for Salk polio vaccine was slashed to $500,000 Wednesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The bill then was sent back to the floor with a recommendation that it pass.

Republican Majority Leader Arthur J. Bidwill, River Forest, made the move to cut $1,000,000 from the bill. He argued that $500,000 would be enough to get an inoculation program started before the summer polio season.

Also, Bidwill said the $500,000 would be for the current budget period which ends June 30 and another $500,000 for vaccine was included in the regular Health Department budget for the coming two year budget period.

The House still has under study a bill to appropriate $1,500,000 dollars for the Health Department to buy and distribute the vaccine.

In other action before the Legislature adjourned next week: The House Executive Committee recommended passage of Gov. William G. Stratton's proposal for a new department of financial institutions to regulate banks and other institutions now under the state auditor and the Department of Insurance.

The committee also recommended creation of a 14-member committee to try to work out a judicial reform program that can muster the required two-thirds vote in both houses. Judicial reform proposals have failed at the last two legislative sessions, and the administration is sponsoring another attempt to overhaul the court system this session.

Legislation introduced would:

Provide for issuance of 238 million dollars in general revenue bonds to be paid off over a period of 25 years for construction and improvements at state welfare and higher educational institutions. The bill, which would be subject to referendum in 1958, would provide 81 million dollars for welfare institutions, 86 million for the University of Illinois, 41 million for Southern Illinois University, and 30 million for the state teachers colleges.

Two bills would regulate trading stamps. One would require retailers using the stamps and the stamp companies to post a $1,000 bond and pay a $50 registration fee to the state before they could be certified to use the stamps. The second bill provided for county licensing of persons issuing the stamps and would require them to post a performance bond.

Miss Towne was reported to have left for Mexico about a week ago.

Webb, the former husband of singer Julie London, is making a feature length movie at Republic Studios.

In addition to the high-scoring Forte (5-9) and Thompson (5-10), the first team included sophomore Don Hennon (5-9) of Pittsburgh.

Airliner Circles Two Cities While Crew Fixes Wheel

DETROIT, Mich. — A crippled airliner carrying 26 anxious persons circled wearily over two cities for hours Wednesday before its crew fixed a frozen nose wheel with orange juice and coffee and brought the big ship in for a perfect landing.

Capt. William Richey, 38, Minneapolis, set the Capital Airlines Constellation down at Willow Run Airport with only a few slight bumps.

Emergency Equipment Ready Ambulances and fire and police rescue squads, which waited tensely for the large plane to come in, sped out to the taxiing craft but were not needed. None of the 21 passengers and five crew members was injured.

Many of the passengers came out of the plane smiling and were quickly hustled off to a lounge in the airport terminal. The crew remained aboard the ship to confer with Capital officials.

Richey, a Capital pilot for 11 years, said the plane's nose wheel froze shortly after the four-engine ship took off from Gen. Mitchell Field at Milwaukee with 15 passengers bound for Detroit and the rest for Philadelphia.

Ralph Reid, Capital's director of engineering, blamed the trouble on a "hydraulic leak."

Ailment Ends Baseball Career Of Bill Sarni

PHOENIX, Ariz. — While Bill Sarni lay seriously ill in a local hospital—his baseball career ended—the New York Giants today reopened trade negotiations with the Cincinnati Redlegs in the hope of acquiring a replacement for the hard-luck catcher.

Sarni suffered what was believed to be only "muscular spasms" of the chest during a workout at the Giants' training camp here Monday. However, the ailment was diagnosed officially as a "moderate coronary" Wednesday by his physician, Dr. Leslie Smith.

The 29-year-old backstop must remain in the hospital "for at least four or five more weeks," Dr. Smith said. The physician added Sarni's heart attack was similar to that suffered by President Eisenhower in 1955.

"It is a moderate attack, but he will not be able to play again," Dr. Smith revealed. "Sarni's normal life should not be affected, just his athletic career."

Sarni, who is married and the father of two children, will be kept on the Giants' roster as a coach following his recuperation. He needs only about two-thirds of a season to qualify for a pension as a five-year man.

Rory Calhoun Whips Cotton In Split Decision

DENVER, Colo. — Charley Cotton's hander said today that Rory Calhoun's split decision win in their 10-round bout Wednesday night was the second "bad decision" in as many fights between them.

The fifth-ranked Calhoun, the "Rocky Marciano" of middleweights, needed all his advantage in youth and strength over Cotton to gain his second split decision over the 26-year-old Toledo, Ohio, fighter before 2,500 fans at Denver's Auditorium Arena.

Calhoun, only 22, edged Cotton on a split decision last August in New York.

"We figured out here in Denver we would at least get an even break," Freddie Fierro, Cotton's manager, said. "It was a bad decision."

Calhoun whipped Cotton in the middle rounds, when his charges and pounding overwhelmed the more slightly built fighter. Cotton said after the fight that he felt the effect of Denver's 5,000-foot altitude. But he came back surprisingly strong in the final rounds, and was as fit as Calhoun at the end.

Referee Ray Keech gave Cotton a 48-47 edge in the scoring. But Judge Joe Ulmer scored it 49-46 for Calhoun and Judge Jack Bloom had it 48-43 for Calhoun. The United Press card favored Calhoun, 48-45.

Yankees, Dodgers Begin Spring Training Without Don Larsen, Sandy Amoros

By United Press
Those familiar autumn rivals—the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers — officially launched their spring training today with World Series heroes Don Larsen and Sandy Amoros listed as holdouts.

Larsen, who pitched the first no-hitter in series history against the Dodgers last year, was the only unsigned player in the Yankee camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., as the world champions unlimbered their muscles for the start of the new campaign.

At Vero Beach, Fla., on Florida's east coast, the Dodgers started full-scale drills without Amoros, their fun-loving, cigar-smoking outfielder who still is remembered for his "1-million dollar" catch that earned Brooklyn its 1955 World Series victory over the Yankees.

The Baltimore Orioles, meanwhile, were getting nowhere in their efforts to sign outfielder Bob Nieman, who finished among the American League's top hitters last year with a .320 average. He is asking a $6,000 increase to $26,000.

The Boston Red Sox had five holdouts in their ranks—infielders Ted Lepcio and Billy Klaus, outfielder Jim Piersall and Gene Stephens, and catcher Sam White — while the Milwaukee Braves awaited the signatures of outfielders Bill Bruton and Wes Covington, first baseman Frank Torre and pitcher Ernie Johnson.

Pitcher Art Houtteman, who had requested that he be sold or traded during the winter, reluctantly accepted a pay cut from the Cleveland Indians. The Tribe now has five holdouts, including veteran shortstop Carrasquel.

Outfielder Roy Sievers and catcher Clint Courtney were regarded as holdouts by the Washington Senators who Wednesday announced the signing of third baseman Eddie Yost and southpaw Chuck Stobbs, while outfielder Richie Ashburn was the last member of the Philadelphia Phillies to sign.

Border Collies of Arthur Allen of Near McLeansboro, Are International Winners, National Champions

By Lucille Bare Tucker
Many residents of this area have seen the sheep dog trials at the Saline County Fair and the man and his dogs who are most always the winners.

He is Arthur N. Allen, Route 6, McLeansboro. Few persons realize that Allen and his dogs are international winners and hold the national championships for a number of years.

Few persons, too, realize the background of the Border Collie and just what is expected in a sheep dog trial.

It is a thrill to see these highly intelligent, supremely trained Collies "at work." At a low command from their master, they slip from his side, surround the sheep and with an almost magic power of "the eye," hold the flock, drive the sheep into pens and even separate one from the group.

Allen has one of the best groups of working Collies in America. Two of his dogs, Rock and Nickie, besides being undefeated champions in official trials, are also movie stars.

They are star performers in a Walt Disney motion picture, "The Arizona Sheep Dogs," which has been shown at many theatres throughout this area. This film was shot in Arizona.

Rock also stars in a Disney television film, "Border Collie," which was photographed on the Allen farm some 6 miles northwest of McLeansboro in the Blarville area of Hamilton county.

This TV film tells the story of Rock from the time he was a pup until he became a champion trials dog. The son of Robert Evans, editor of the McLeansboro Times-Leader, has the leading boy's role.

Large crowds of people gathered at their farm to see the filming of this story and to perhaps get into the picture, Mrs. Allen said.

Allen and his wife, Mary, appeared with their dogs in the Roy Rogers and Dale Evans Rodeo from coast to coast and in Canada in 1943 and 1944. They have given exhibitions at the largest livestock shows, appearing from Madison Square Garden in New York to rodeos in the west. It is only in recent years that they have appeared at county fairs throughout southern Illinois.

The Border Collie, which is black and white, originated in the border country of Scotland, England and Wales. Here the terrain is wooded and rugged and land borders are seldom fenced. Livestock owners use the Collie to keep the stock on their land. A highly trained and intelligent dog is needed and from this section has come the champion dogs. Allen still carefully chooses breeding stock from Scotland. Rock is an imported dog.

This is the only breed of dogs with "the eye," the power to control livestock with its eyes. As the dog holds the sheep with its eager, watchful eyes, its legs are gathered under it for immediate action if the sheep break away. The sheep seem to understand that the dog can move faster than it can but shows no fear.

Allen keeps a dozen or more Collies at his place, each in an individual pen of heavy, high woven wire with locked gates. Utmost cleanliness and care are used.

In addition to winning national awards and serving as breeding stock, these dogs help with the work on the 280-acre farm. Allen doesn't just play at farming but makes it a profitable, scientific operation. The deep pastures attest to that. He raises some grain but puts most emphasis on livestock and pastures. At times he has as many as 800 head of sheep, 250 hogs and some 30 cattle. It is with the livestock that the dogs prove useful.

Allen says his dogs will work any of the livestock, the poultry, and even people. He tells of sending one of the dogs to the house after his wife.

"Go get Mary," he commanded. The dog went after her and wouldn't leave the house until she followed.

Some folks have the erroneous idea that a Border Collie works only with sheep, Allen says. Sheep are the hardest of farm animals to drive. If a dog is trained first to handle sheep he will be a good all-around stock dog, he believes. At Perthshire Farms, the Allen home, some 40 to 50 pups are raised and sold a year. These pups sell at a most reasonable price compared to many breeds, Allen says. He points out that the value of the dog increases greatly when it is trained.

Others of the Allen family have a knack with Collies, too. Their only daughter, Verla Fearn, and her family live at Perthshire. Verla and her dog, Laddy, are winners of the Ladies' Supreme Championship meet.

Three-year-old grandson, Alan, is learning, too. Verla tells of the day he got into the pasture where some 100 head of sheep were grazing at the far end. One of the Collies was close by and Alan gave the low, double whistle his granddad gives for the "run out." The dog immediately dashed out, surrounded the flock of sheep, and was bringing them at a fast clip straight to little Alan. Luckily, granddad came up just then and gave the command for the dog to turn the sheep to the side.

Allen's father kept Border Collies on his farm and Arthur grew up with a love for and knowledge of them. He began showing his dogs professionally in 1941.

He is now president of the North American Sheep Dog Society. And do you know whose picture heads the Border Collie section in "The Modern Dog Encyclopedia?" Arthur Allen's, of course.

Allen speaks of his dogs as any man does a beloved pet. He tells of special things they do, of special traits and skills. Each dog is an individual and develops differently. Most dogs are 3 or 4 years old before they are submitted to the strain of a public exhibition. Allen points out. Their training is begun at seven months. But Nickie, the black movie star, was giving shows at seven months.

A sheep dog trial brings out the real mettle of a dog, Allen believes. He may perform excellently at home, then become extremely nervous and rattled in new surroundings, before a crowd, with shrill tones of a microphone on his sensitive ears. It is here that complete rapport between master and dog is important.

"A dog must keep his eyes on the sheep and his ears on his master," Allen says.

The sheep dog trial was introduced in North Wales as far back as 1873. It has continued until the present time and now is held in the United States and five other countries.

These trials are the only means of telling the working merits of a dog. Only after he has proven himself a working dog is he eligible for registry in the North American Sheep Dog Society.

In a trial a dog is judged on the merits of his performance and the time needed to take the sheep through a prescribed course. Five sheep

20 New Embassies Since World War II

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Twenty of the 75 foreign embassies here represent countries which did not exist as independent states before World War II.

Among these are Burma, India, Ceylon, Nepal, Pakistan, Sudan and Jordan—formerly part of the British empire—and Cambodia, Laos, Vietnam, Morocco, Tunisia, Lebanon and Syria—nations once under French control.

Iceland formerly belonged to Denmark, Indonesia was part of Dutch overseas holdings, Korea was controlled by Japan, Libya by Italy, and the Philippines were U. S.-governed. Israel was created by the United Nations in 1948.

The National Geographic Society reported that the great increase of embassies here—40 since 1945—has been the natural outgrowth of America's emergence as a world power of fir rank. This increase reflects Washington's position as a mecca of the diplomatic world.

Upgrading of lesser-ranking legations to embassies has become a trend since World War II.

An embassy usually is presided over by an ambassador who is empowered to deal directly with chiefs of state and foreign ministers. Ministers or charges d'affaires, who head legations, must deal with lesser government officials.

In 1945, the nation's capital was host to 35 embassies and 20 legations; in 1950, 56 embassies and 14 legations. At present there are 75 embassies and six legations.

These six legations represent Switzerland, Yemen, Hungary, Romania, Latvia and Lithuania. Switzerland traditionally has no embassies anywhere in the world.

are put in the field a quarter of a mile from the dog and his master. The dog is directed to bring the sheep to his master, to herd them through a panel, then into an eight-foot pen. Next he divides the sheep, two or three to a group. "Shedding off a single" is one of the most difficult feats of the trial. Here the dog is directed to separate a single sheep from the flock.

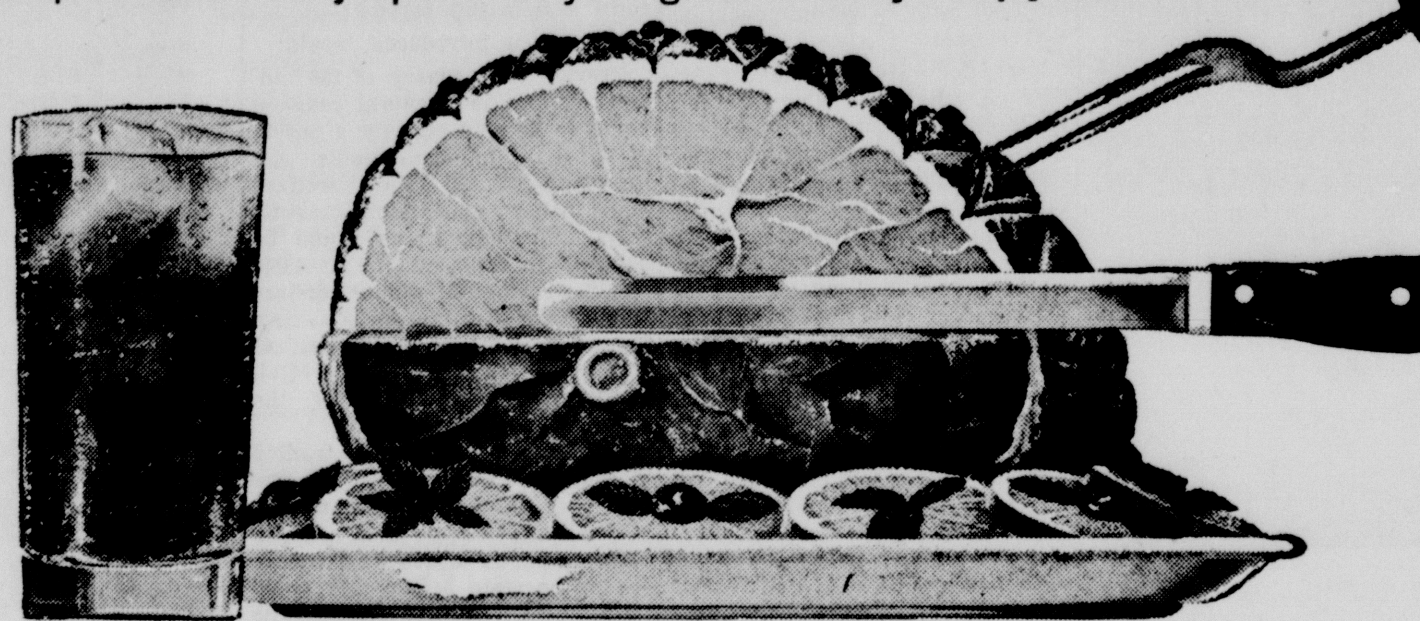

Wherever exhibitions of handling livestock with Border Collies are held, wherever sheep dog trials are being conducted, there is likely to be Arthur Allen, collecting more trophies to bring to his Hamilton county home.

Saline Baptist Quarterly Hymn Sing Saturday

The second quarterly hymn sing of the music department of Saline Baptist Association will be at the College Heights church near the high school in Eldorado Saturday, March 2, at 7 p. m.

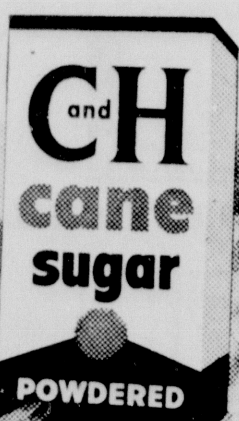

The program will feature the choir festival pattern. Each section of the musical sermon, the theme for which is "Sing Christ Through the Ages," will be climaxed by a mass choir of different age groups.

At 7 p. m. all junior and primary children will meet with Mrs. A. B. Plunkett; College Heights with Mrs. Ray Pady, Shawnee-town; intermediates and young people with Mrs. Robert Keltner, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Lou Beck of Eldorado; adults with Miss Genevieve Elder, Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Doyle Hedger, Harrisburg.

Together with the associational director, Mrs. Madge Daugherty of Raleigh, Miss Elder, who has served on the State Music committee, will preside over the miniature festival which will be followed in April by three on state-wide scale. The program proper will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Some 20 churches and missions are represented on this program and the College Heights church new addition will provide ample space for these choirs. The music loving public is cordially invited to attend.
